

Plant Science Funding Opportunities

31st International Conference on Arabidopsis Research
July 6-10, 2020

University of Washington
SEATTLE

Why attend ICAR 2020?

It's a great way for students, postdocs, and faculty to:

- Network with leaders in plant science and have chances for individual mentoring
  - Learn more about diverse career opportunities in this field
  - Opportunities to present your work and interests to others
- Special social and professional program for recipients of under-represented minority awards

Plant
Science

Personal and Professional Development

Networking

Travel Awards

How can I attend the 2020 ICAR in Seattle?

- Full-funding opportunities for students, post-doctoral scholars, and faculty that are under-represented (URM) in science in the U.S. (African American, Native American, ChicanX/LatinX)
  - Support for travel or registration costs for early-career researchers (ECR)
  - Funding applications will be available in January 2020 at the ICAR 2020 website.
- Go to <http://icar2020.arabidopsisresearch.org> and click "ICAR 2020 Email List" at top to get the latest updates on the meeting and funding announcements!

Contact Information

Dr. Terri Long (terri_long@ncsu.edu)
Dr. Siobhan Brady (sbrady@ucdavis.edu)
NAASC Minority Affairs Committee
Dr. Joanna Friesner (arabidopsisconference@gmail.com)
NAASC Executive Director/Awards Administrator

Funding generously provided by the National Science Foundation under Grant No. #1518280. Any opinions, findings, and conclusions or recommendations expressed in this event are those of the attendees and do not necessarily reflect the views of the National Science Foundation.